

International Symposium on the Epidemiology and Control of Biological, Chemical and Physical Hazards in Pigs and Pork

Become a sponsor of the SAFEPORK World Congress!

The 15th edition, organised for the first time in France, in Rennes
Monday 6 to Wednesday 8 October 2025

After Brazil in 2017, Berlin in 2019 and New Orleans in 2023, France will host the 15th International Symposium on the Epidemiology and Control of Biological, Chemical and Physical Risks in Pigs.

And it's in the heart of Brittany, in Rennes, that researchers working towards a single goal have chosen to meet: health safety in the pig industry.

Find out more about this international conference, and how your company can support it by becoming an organising partner for 1 year!

What is safepork?

Safepork is the only conference in the world dedicated to the safety of pork products, from breeding ... to charcuterie and cured meats.

Safepork was founded in 1996 at the University of Iowa with the aim of bringing together international researchers, manufacturers and government agencies working on the issue of Salmonella in pig farming and pork products.

Since then, this conference, organised in the USA and around the world (Denmark, Germany, Greece, Italy, Canada, the Netherlands, Portugal and Brazil), has taken on other issues, in particular the biological,
chemical and physical risks of pork production.

Safepork takes place every 2 years, in English, and will be held in Hanoi, Vietnam in 2027 following the French edition...

Why in France? and who is behind the organisation?

In 2025, it was France that applied for and obtained the right for the congress to be based in France for the first time, in Rennes, Brittany, at the heart of pig production and the agri-food industry.

The event is being organised by 3 complementary organizations, all experts in the safety of pork products:

 anses
Ploufragan-Plouzané
Laboratory, Hygiene and Quality
Unit of poultry and pork products

 Oniris
Nantes National Veterinary and Food School

 ifip
Institut du porc
The Agricultural and Food Technical Institute for the French pork industry

Martine Denis
Project Director,
research
into zoonoses
in the pork industry

Annaëlle Kerouanton
Communication,
Project Manager,
research on Salmonella
in the pork industry

Catherine Belloc
Professor, research in pathology
of monogastrics
epidemiology,
risk analysis

Jean Michel Cappelier
Professor in food safety, research in hygiene and quality

Carole Feurer
Project Manager,
research in microbiology, epidemiology of contaminants in the pork industry

Alain Leroux
Engineer, research
in Good Hygiene Practices,
slaughtering and
cutting process

Isabelle Corrége
Veterinary Doctor,
research in biosecurity in farming and transport, Salmonella
epidemiology

What topics will be covered during these 3 days dedicated to pork safety?

This will be an opportunity for international, and especially French, research teams to present their findings to an audience of experts:

- Biological, chemical and physical risks
- Control and prevention of zoonoses (African swine fever...)
- Salmonella contamination of pigs and meat
- Microbial contamination from slaughter to consumer
- Hygiene practices throughout the production chain
- Quality assurance systems
- Public health and meat inspection
- Behaviour of pathogens
- Health impact of transport practices
- Use of antimicrobials, resistance and antibiotic residues
- Molecular methods, genomics and sequencing
- Economic impact of eradication measures

Who should attend?

Researchers, vets and organisations involved in the control and prevention of zoonoses of swine origin, and more generally the health quality of pork.

Why become a sponsor and support the organisation in France and Brittany?

For this year's event in France, we need the support of partner companies in the pork industry to balance the budget and offer the best possible conditions for hosting the event in Rennes:

- The conference will be held in the Halle de la Brasserie, close to the station. This former industrial workshop has been refurbished to provide a vast, open, bright and modern space.
- An aperitif will be offered on the Monday evening to provide a friendly opportunity to meet other delegates
- On Tuesday evening, the evening of the congress will be organised by privatising a brasserie in the centre of Rennes: Le Piccadilly, a warm and intimate space for tasting and exchanging ideas, as well as a karaoke evening.
- Over the 3 days, 'La Cantine', the Brasserie's restaurant, will be serving local, seasonal and tasty

What's in it for the French pork industry?

It's a great honour to be able to organise this congress in France, and it will be an opportunity for French researchers to present their work on pigs to colleagues from all over the world, Americans, Europeans and also Vietnamese, as the next edition will be organised in Asia.

It will also be an opportunity to showcase the excellence of the French pork industry, thanks to the companies, agri-suppliers, services, education and research, and public authorities that support French livestock farming and the agri-food industry.

... and for your company?

We have a range of packages to suit your ambitions and your budget, so that you can contribute and be visible throughout the 3 days!

4 levels of support for the organisation

Let's work together to make this Rennes event a success!

to welcome over 200 international delegates in the best possible conditions, and to help raise the profile of the pork industry: its public and private research, its companies and all those working to ensure the high hygienic and nutritional quality of pork products.
